The Nunnally House opens its doors

Since it was first announced last year, the Nunnally House has become a highly anticipated addition to the Southeast Georgia Health System Brunswick Campus. Thanks to the generosity of Hugh Nunnally and his family, the new lodging facility opened its doors in May, providing much needed short-term residential housing for cancer patients and their family members who travel significant distances to receive treatment; critical patients' family members who are from out of town; medical students completing their clinical rotations at the Health System; and on-call team members.

Located on Kemble Avenue in Brunswick, this one-story residential building includes 40 units.

"The Nunnally House will have a tremendous impact on the lives of our patients receiving cancer treatment and the families of our critically ill patients, as they will no longer have to travel or stay in a hotel while receiving care. They will be just a few steps away," says Krista Robitz, director, Development, Southeast Georgia Health System Foundation.

"This enhancement of care and expansion of services for patients and their families has been provided through the incredible kindness and commitment of Hugh Nunnally and his family."

BRIDGE RUN GROWS BY LEAPS AND BOUNDS

The annual Southeast Georgia Health System Bridge Run grew in every direction this year, from the number of runners, walkers and teams participating to the number of event sponsors and vendors. The Firefighter Challenge also experienced an upswing in participation, with nine teams competing for the coveted ax award, taken home this year by Brunswick, Georgia Team 1.

Held Feb. 15 on the scenic Sidney Lanier Bridge in Brunswick, the beloved 5K run supports cancer care programs at Southeast Georgia Health System and netted more than $50,000 for the cause this year.
